WHAT IS PROBABLY (hopefully) the last chapter in the running serial of our wandering VW can be presented this week.

That will probably please "Constant Reader", who has probably become bored with the blow-by-blow account of the theft of our VW. Unfortunately, car theft is a common occurrence, as an examination of any police blotter will show.

But, "Constant", it has always happened to the other guy before!

Anyway we are now driving the same Volkswagon that we have had ever since we took delivery from the factory in Germany some five years ago.

At least it looks the same from the outside.

But there have been a number of modifications to the original little number.

There is a different engine. And there are different seats and wheels than the ones that came with it.

It has been theorized that those aforementioned items that were on the bug when we drove it out of the factory are now gracing some dune buggy that is buzzing around the countryside.

The insurance company was extremely cooperative and treated us both courteously and fairly, including picking up the tab for a rental car during the period our VW was getting its new innards installed.

We scooted around in a little red Pinto, Ford's answer to the compact foreign car invasion.

ONE OF THOSE TIMELY coincidences that sort of makes one wonder occurred while we were still driving the red Pinto.

We received one of those personalized form letters from Ford announcing a special promotion of their little cars, including a contest that for a prize offers a free weekend at Tahoe.

Included was a brochure on which a Pinto was pictured under the heading "So you like little cars! Here's America's littlest...Pinto..."

The "personalized" form letter to us started out: "Dear Mr. Vierhus: Because you're a VW owner, we've got a special little deal just for you..."

Then it went on to tell about the Tahoe weekend offer.

All we had to do to get a gift was to drop by the Ford dealer and "test drive our carefree little Pinto."

Now, mind you, we're driving a Pinto at the time we got the letter because our VW was laid up. But the Ford people didn't know that.

Obviously the promotion was directed to VW owners as per registration.

The letter went on..."Sure, you've got a good little car there, Mr. Vierhus. VW's are neat. But we've got a little car that we think is better. Test drive a Pinto and see for yourself..."

We got a big charge out of the coincidence.

But then again we often see humor in little things.

IN LAST WEEK'S COLumn we touched on the so-called "dirty movie" joint that is now operating in Campbell.

We asked whether the converted bar, where the "Classy Chassey" once operated, was classified as a movie house as far as the city was concerned.

We suggested that,if it was a "theater", it should be subjected to the same requirements as the other movie houses in town, such as the Plazas and PruneYard...with respect to parking, etc.

For example, in our naivety we just assumed that a theater would require more parking spaces than a bar.

Art Kee, planning director for the city, set us straight on that.

Art explained that his bible,

RECOGNIZED AGAIN---Fire Chief George Maxwell (left) on Monday presented Neal Royer, long-time local educator, with an award of appreciation for Royer's assistance over the years, specifically in the department's baby-sitters seminar. Royer was also named citizen-of-the-year for 1970 by the Chamber of Commerce.

FROM FIRE DEPARTMENT

Citizens receive awards

Using the Rotary Club meeting on Monday as a "launching pad", Fire Chief George Maxwell, on behalf of the Campbell Fire Department recognized 10 local citizens who have made contributions in public service to the fire department over the years.

Unique plaques were presented by Chief Maxwell as part of the Rotary program to the citizens at the noon luncheon meeting. On each plaque was the engraving "an award of appreciation for your invaluable service".

Five awards were made to those who have assisted in the department's baby-sitters seminar, which has established an outstanding record.

Mrs. Adele Charlson, a home econ specialist; Mrs. Ann Baker, R.N., and Dr. Robert Griffith, for their medical assistance; Sgt. John Butler, of the Campbell police and to Neal Royer, of the school district, were recipients of awards in that project.

Mrs. Jeanette Watson and Mrs. Ruth Hartman, members of the Citizens for Beautification, received awards for their leadership in the landscaping of the new fire station and other civic beautification projects.

Mario Toso, of the Green Valley Disposal Co., was recognized for his continuing cooperation in helping keep a clean city and Jose Stell, of the San Jose Mercury, and George Vierhus, of The Campbell Press, were awarded plaques for their assistance in publicizing the civic projects undertaken by the fire department.

PLAN BEFORE COUNCIL

Bike riders may get city trails too

Bike riders in Campbell will have specific routes on which to travel within the city limits which will tie-in with the county program, if the City Council next Monday (Feb. 8) approves the plan that will be presented.

Bill Wren, public works director, and Ted Thorsen, of the Parks and Recreation Commission, will describe the proposed bike trail project at the Council meeting.

Bill Paul and Jerry Bernstein, of Wheel-Away in Campbell and other leaders in bike rider associations, plan to be present at the meeting to lend support to the proposal.

According to Wren, the Campbell plan proposes to tie-in with the overall county-wide trailway program but it is anticipated that the trailway system in Campbell will have specific supplementary routes.

Wren said that the trails in Campbell will be on the lesser-traveled streets and will lead to the more or less rural areas in the San Tomas sector, as well as toward the creek.

Streets that will be selected will have distinguishing signs. At the present, it is not planned to develop any new trails but the long-range program does contemplate bike travel along the creek.

Bike riders, it is emphasized, will not have special treatment on the streets selected as routes but the street signs may serve as warnings to others traveling the streets.

Although the specific routes have yet to be finalized, tentative plans call for the use of Central Ave., Latimer, Hardy, Carlyn, the Rincon pedestrian overpass out Bucknall to the San Tomas area.

Other matters on the Council's agenda next Monday include a report on the proposed Local Improvement District for a stretch of Virginia Ave. from Campbell Ave.

The project will be financed under the city formula of the residents paying one-third the cost and the city picking up two-thirds from street bond money. Residents in the area have indicated their approval of the project, according to city officials.

Mrs. Ruth Hartman, longtime active in city beautification projects, will be honored by the Council and up for approval will be two apartment developments in the W. Hamilton - Marathon - Darryl area that have received the prior approval of the Planning Commission.

On file also with the Council is a letter from Dr. Charles E. Edman protesting the showing of adult movies on S. Bascom in Campbell.

Town-house complex of 100-units wins approval

Approval was granted by the Planning Commission Monday night for a 100-unit town-house apartment complex to be located on W. Latimer at the expressway but backing up to single-family homes on Llewellyn Ave.

And representatives of the residents on Llewellyn Ave. were on hand as vitally interested observers and participants in the action.

The applicant, J.L. Eichler Associates, a well-known name in residential building, was seeking a zone change from R-2-S (multiples) to P-D (planned development).

Although there are less units planned for the parcel than had been approved originally for a complex on the property, the zone change was necessary, it was pointed out, so that individuals could buy units of the complex under the town-house concept.

A number of months ago a 156-unit complex had been approved for the seven-acre parcel for Pacific States Construction.

The property has changed hands but the R-2-S zoning remained.

The new plan on Monday won approval from the Commission, as submitted, except it was specified that wood shingles or shakes must be used for the roof instead of composition.

On the whole, the residents from Llewellyn, who were present, expressed approval of the proposal after some of their questions had been answered concerning fencing, landscaping and access. It was specified, for example, that a 6-foot high fence would separate the single-family backyards from the complex and, in addition, the patio areas of the units of the complex would also be fenced.

Among the residents taking part in the discussion were Wilbur Clarke, 90 Llewellyn; William White, 113 Llewellyn; Wallace Ingram, 138 Llewellyn and Clifford Sayles, 500 W. Latimer.

Shake roofs were specified in other apartments that gained Commission approval Monday. R.S. Anderson got the okay for 12-units on West Valley Drive after shake roofs were substituted for composition and the approval of a four-unit job was given Ray Kanawyer also on West Valley specified shingles.

Approval was also granted Bruce A. Erickson for a 31-unit apartment complex, 650 E. Sunnyoaks with a shake roof and Marshall S. Davis got approval for six-units at 1785 Hacienda.

Approval was also given the plans for the new Barclays Bank building that will be located at 60 W. Hamilton. The building will have 6,880 square feet with 4,860 sq. ft. on the first floor.

California Shingle and Shake Co. received approval for a warehouse building to be located at 20 and 28 Railway Ave. across from their present operation.

It was specified, however, if the warehouse use was ever

AGAINST TWO TRUSTEES

Recall group pushes drive for names

An all-out effort is scheduled for the next two weeks to complete the necessary recall petitions against Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg, trustees of the Campbell Union School District, Don Nadell, of the recall committee, reported this week.

Nadell reported that about 67% of the required signatures have been obtained to date and two areas of the school district have not yet been canvassed.

Nadell added that the all-out effort is necessary in order to complete the petitions by Thursday, Feb. 25, so that the recall election can be held at the same time as the regular trustee election that is scheduled for April 20.

By holding the recall election at the same time as the regularly scheduled trustee vote, there will be no financial outlay to the district for a special election, committee members emphasize.

Nadell added also that, if those registered voters who have not signed petitions and desire to do so, they can contact any one of the following and someone will bring a petition to them:

Jan Mestice (378-0487);
Carol Raines (378-0461);
Carol Casteel (378-2596);
Carol King (354-8608);
Bob Bullard (379-7440).

Campbell school district board to meet Thursday at Castlemont

Letters from three former members of the Citizens Finance Advisory Committee are listed under communications on the agenda for the Campbell Union School District board of trustees' meeting this Thursday, Feb. 4.

The letters are from Gordon Abbott, Dr. Robert King and Henry R. Mestice.

The board will meet at Castlemont School, 3040 E. Payne, at 7 p.m.

The agenda specifies that an executive session has been called by Dr. Richard MacQuiddy on personnel.

It was not reported whether the executive session will have anything to do with the subject of the superintendency stemming from the demotion of Neal Royer last October by a 3-2 vote of the trustees.

The agenda includes requests from two Little Leagues in the district, Campbell Little League and the Burbank-Del Mar Little League.

Campbell Little League, runners-up for the world championship last August in Williamsport, has long used the field at Rosemary School. Joe McGrody, league president, is asking board approval for a storage building and the installation of a street light to be located at the Little League facilities.

The Burbank-Del Mar Little League is seeking permission to finance and develop a ballfield at the Sherman Oaks School.

Another item on the agenda is a request from C. E. Bradley, district business manager, for the trustees to either request that the Local Allocation Board rescind its recent action demanding a refund of $247,756 from the district, or for the district to pay the money as demanded.

In his letter to the trustees, Bradley explains that the State Allocation Board had rescinded its approval of two district projects when the district was unable to sell $350,000 in bonds, in addition to the $1,215,000 in existing bond funds.

Bradley reports that it was his thinking when the State Allocation Board rescinded its approval of the projects, that the district's deposit of $247,756 would also be rescinded.

But he has now been informed that the district's deposit against the projects must be paid from the $1,215,000 existing bond money, even if the projects themselves have been cancelled.

Candidates must file for school board by Feb. 25

Those who desire to seek election as trustees of the Campbell Union School District in the district election on April 20, can obtain nomination forms at the district administration office at 155 N. Third St., Campbell.

Filing deadline for candidates with the registrar of voters is Thursday, Feb. 25, at 5 p.m.

Terms of office are expiring for two of the board members, Dr. Ralph MacQuiddy, current board president, and Jim Gilliland, vice-president, who are filling unexpired terms. Trustees on April 20 will be elected for four-year terms.

If the necessary signatures are obtained on the recall petitions against trustees, Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg, by the Feb. 25 deadline, they, too, would face the voters on April 20.

ELECTION ON FEB. 16

Cambrian School District asks approval to contiue tax rate

Voters in the Cambrian School District will go to the polls on Tuesday, Feb. 16, to cast ballots on the question of whether the present tax rate of $3 per $100 assessed valuation should be continued for three years.

Leaders in the district in asking for voters' approval stress the fact that they are not seeking a tax increase but are simply asking to hold the line with the present rate.

If the election fails, members of the Cambrian Citizen's Committee for Education point out, the tax rate in the district will revert to $1.50, a rate established 16 years ago, and will result in a loss of $783,523 in operational and maintenance tax revenue.

They emphasize also that such a loss in income would mean that drastic cuts in educational programs and service would be necessary.

They submit that it will be necessary to reduce the district's teaching staff by 25% which would result in class sizes increasing by one third. School bus transporation would be eliminated and many other reductions in educational programs would have to be made.

The executive board of every home and school club in the district has endorsed the election and concerned parents and teachers in the district are contacting voters through a series of coffee hours and house to house canvassing.

Annual citywide congress takes place March 27

"Campbell's Place in the Seventies" is the theme for the fifth annual Congress for Community Progress which will be a day-long symposium, luncheon and discussion at West Valley College on Saturday, March 27.

Taking the chairmanship for the fourth year is Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould of First United Methodist Church.

Five general topics have been selected for exploration at the Congress.

"Taxation" will be the topic of the committee which will be led by John Ruppel, administrative assistant for the City of Campbell.

John Morgan, Campbell Chief of Police, will head the

Ticking ahead with the clock tower

Bookings for the six matinees at the Plaza Theater as part of the fund-raising project for the clock tower at the city hall were announced this week.

Starting on Saturday, Feb. 20, the matinees will conclude on March 27. The "package" of six shows sells for $3 and the proceeds from the ticket sales go into the clock tower fund.

Tickets for the matinees will be distributed to the schools in Campbell and Cambrian districts and to St. Lucy's with the PTA's and home and school clubs coordinating the sales. Each school has 50 tickets.

The CofC is spearheading the drive to raise $5000 that is needed to erect the clock tower, which was in the original plans for the city hall but was eliminated by the City Council in the interest of economy.

Shows that have been booked and their dates include: Feb. 20, "Daring Young Men in Their Jaunty Jalopies", a drama about antique racing cars; Feb. 27, "Run Wild Run Free", a drama about horses, filmed in England.

March 6, "My Side of the Mountain," the story of one boy's adventure in the wilds of nature; March 13, "Tarzan, And The Great River", one of the best known heros of fiction in one of his greatest screen adventures.

March 20, "Sea Pirate", Gene Barry stars in an action packed drama of the sea; March 27, "Hello Down There", a comedy with music starring Tony Randall.

Editorial

An excellent choice

We consider the choice of Neal Royer by the Chamber of Commerce as citizen-of-the-year for 1970 was an outstanding selection.

It was a well-deserved tribute to a citizen of this community who has given unstintingly of his time and efforts to make his community a better place in which to live and work.

His record of civic endeavors is an impressive one and the contributions he has made to the community in so many ways have been outstanding.

He has not confined his extra-curricula activities to school oriented projects. But over the years has taken an active part in many progressive civic functions far removed from the classroom.

We are well aware that the selection of Royer as the citizen-of-the-year will be criticized by some people as a politically-motivated gesture on the part of the Chamber of Commerce.

But those people who will make such charges are mainly the same ones who have been operating in a vacuum in the current school hassle and through innuendos, implications and distortions have attemped to maliciously assassinate the characters of many civic-minded people.

Obviously in their criticism of the CofC's action in honoring Royer, those same people are following the same pattern.

They choose to ignore the basis that was used in the selection of the citizen-of-the-year and instead they indulge in their usual vilification antics.

That, of course, is to be expected, for one of their weaknesses is that they fail to recognize that there is more to a community than a classroom.

We commend the selection group of the Chamber of Commerce in choosing an outstanding citizen for the honor, for they too, were well aware of the criticism that would be leveled by the malcontents in the community.

The selection was made on the basis of service to the community that an individual has rendered over the years and even Royer's most severe critic should concede that Royer's activities in the community during the past 22 years merit recognition and commendation.

It is true that Neal has been recognized by his fellow citizens in the past for his work in the community in which he takes so much pride. He has served as president of the Chamber of Commerce as well as the Rotary Club.

But the citizen-of-the-year award was for something more than just serving as the head of community organizations.

It was for Royer's "work in the ranks" as well as his leadership ability.

As one of the selection committee members succinctly put it, "When Neal took on a civic job, those working with him had to run to keep up. He put everything he had into it and he got the job done."

The same energy that he, Royer, gave to the CofC projects, he also gave to the YMCA, the Boy Scouts and the United Fund drives.

He was the founder of the Campbell Citizens for Beautification and of the Youth Employment Service sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

All in all, over all the years, there has probably been no single person in town who can match Royer's record for voluntary civic activity and also for his record of achievement in that sphere.

His record speaks for itself, loud and clear.

Neal Royer is an excellent choice as "citizen-of-the-year for 1970."

We are pleased to see his efforts to the community recognized by the Chamber of Commerce.

But he also has been the "citizen-of-the-year" for many years without that recognition.

the city's zoning ordinance, specifies that the parking ratio for a cocktail lounge is stricter than a theater. A bar calls for a ratio of one parking space for each three seats, while the theater ratio is one space for each four seats.

When the ordinances were drafted it was probably assumed that there was more of a tendency for a bar to attract just one person per car than for a movie house.

We suppose that makes sense.

We will have to check with Norm Paul to see what the percentage is of "loners" at his theaters as compared to those who attend as couples or groups.

Of course there are some movies that we betcha a guy sneaks into all by himself.

Shucks, he would be too embarrassed to have anyone with him.

Oh yes, the ratio for churches is also one to four.

IMPACT OF THE COMpact car on this country was illustrated at a recent Planning Commission meeting.

Up before the commissioners for approval were plans for an official development on the west side of town.

As usual the question of whether there were adequate parking spaces for the project was discussed.

It turned out that there were less spaces than the ordinance called for...

But the applicant was ready for that.

He explained that actually there were more than enough parking spaces.

You see, he was allowing for some spaces to be set aside for compact cars.

Obviously, the little jobs could squeeze in where their big brothers-on-wheels would fear to tread.

You might call it compacting for the compact.

Then again you might call it something else.

LETTERS TO THE EDItor are encouraged by The Press on any subject, even if the writer castigates the paper unmercifully for its editorial policy.

Of course, the letters must not be libelous, for the paper is still responsible for what appears in print, no matter if it is a signed letter, an ad, a news story or an editorial.

Other than that there really is no restriction, except there is a space factor involved.

Some letters are so lengthy that there is no way to make room for 'em.

And if we cut them to fit, we are treading on dangerous ground.

May we suggest in the future that your letters should be no more than 500 words at the maximum with 300 words as the preferred length.

It seems to us that should be long enough to give us all the heck we need.

-0-

ONE PARTY RECENTLY brought in a lengthy dissertation. At our suggestion, she cut it down considerably. But it was still longer than was desired. We ran it anyway.

But our suggestion for brevity didn't do much good.

The same party subsequently brought in another letter in relatively the same vein as the first, but had less pages than the first.

It was just as long, however. The writer had single spaced it. The first one was double-spaced.

We couldn't use it, so we probably will be condemned forever and accused of suppression of the people's voice or worse, inasmuch as the letter was quité uncomplimentary to The Press.

But that's what we have learned to expect.

We never seem to be enough of a contortionist to be able to lean over backward far enough, as hard as we try.

Many people choose to ignore the fact that space in a newspaper means anything.

It happens to be our lifeblood; space, that is.

The Press stays reasonably solvent because our advertisers buy about 60% of the space in each issue.

If the percentage falls below that figure, there are problems.

There are some, however, who refuse to believe there is such a thing as profit and loss. Private enterprise is not their bag.

On the whole, however, we rarely pass up a letter, even if some times the charges against us may be somewhat distorted.

One writer, for example, criticized the contents of a news story before we had even written it.

And in another case, The Press was accused of not being represented at a board meeting. Our wife, Dorothy, was mad at that.

You see when neither Sally nor GV could make a meeting, our little Dorothy "covered" for us.

But she is a little more of a reticent than we are. She did not sit at the press table.

You win a few and lose a few.

FOR CITIZEN-OF-THE-YEAR SELECTION

Teachers' union leader issues sarcastic CofC commendation

In what was labeled a "press release" this week, the head of the West Valley Federation of Teachers (AFT, Local 1953), reported to represent less than six teachers in the district, sarcastically "commended" the Chamber of Commerce for naming Neal Royer, for 22 years active in civic affairs, as citizen-of-the-year for 1970.

A number of civic leaders this week, after the release of the AFT statement, expressed concern for the majority of the teachers in the district who have now been "tarnished", as one man put it, with the malicious brush of their self-styled "leader".

One CofC official suggested that those teachers who deplore this vitrolic means of attack on community leaders by their "leader", should no longer remain silent.

The "news release" of the teachers' union official claimed that the members of the Chamber of Commerce committee in selecting Royer "have not allowed their political prejudices to outweigh their obligations to the community."

The release also claimed that "the Chamber's selection is moot testimony to the validity of their annual honor."

CofC officers reported that after the "release" was published in the San Jose Mercury on Tuesday, a number of teachers had called in to denounce the union spokesman's statement and emphasized that they did not approve of such an unwarranted attack on sincere leaders of the community.

They submitted that they recognized such an intemperate display by a "leader" in a teacher's group could cause irreparable harm to the relationship of the teachers with the community as a whole.

Letters to the Editor

COMMENDS D'AVIS

Dear Editor:

It suddenly dawned on me that I have become a very negative individual in my letters to your paper. I am not usually a negative person and this thought disturbed me.

I WAS very irritated by your editorial of Jan. 20 being completely turned over to Mr. Gordon Abbott's presentation at the trustee's meeting of Jan. 14. If your paper had been represented at that meeting, the several points that were corrected from the floor could have been included in the article.

But to be positive: How many people have stopped to consider the most difficult position of our "Acting Superintendent", Jim D'Avis?

Without much fanfare he was handed a huge hornet's nest with much stinging and buzzing activity going on within it. He took charge very quietly and in a calm and reassuring manner.

He visited each school to talk with the teachers within the first two weeks of his appointment.

He opened his door to anyone who had a complaint or suggestion and these were heard and acted upon.

(I called to suggest that the board be placed on the stage, after the Oct. 22 meeting at Monroe, so everyone could see. The next meeting, Nov. 12 at Rosemary, the board was seated on the stage. Mine was not the only request for this.)

He has made himself available to committee groups and thus expedited their productivity.

He has had answers ready for all questions from the trustees. His research has been promptly handled and presented.

Above all, while lesser "heads" were in the throes of great panic, Jim D'Avis never "lost his cool"!

Our schools have run efficiently and happily. Mr. D'Avis has taken the helm of a troubled ship and seems to many of us to be steering us into calmer seas.

Let's give him a chance! Let's give him our heartfelt THANKS!

Man On the Street

with CARL WINTHER

CONFIDENCE

Norm Book has built a pretty good business on transmissions. We were talking to him the other day about it, and we asked him point blank how he managed to keep going with all these transmission companies in the county offering anything in the world for customers.

Norm had a good answer... "Confidence". "My customers have confidence in me—in my boys. They know we're going to do the best job we can and we're not going to 'take them'. We've been here in Campbell since 1959 and I don't know a single customer who's been dissatisfied with our service".

This kind of confidence is hard to get. It's something that you build up, year after year. It's the priceless ingredient of a successful business.

Very few people know and understand the functions of a car's transmission. That's why it's gotten to be such a big business. Isn't it sort of nice to know, then, that you can take your car into a local dealer and tell him to "fix it up" and know you're only going to pay for what it actually took to do it?

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY DEP'T.

While we're on the subject of local business, how come Campbell doesn't have even one family shoe store? With 24,200 plus people, you'd think somebody would move in here to put soles on our feet! You can buy exotic fish from anywhere in the world, food with a real gourmet touch, dresses and suits right off Fifth Avenue, but shoes... no!

Something else...you can buy a color TV as big as your living room wall in Campbell, but just go looking for a washer, or dryer, or a place to get one fixed!

Also in Campbell, you can buy foods from every corner of the earth, but where can you buy something to cook it on?

We have six banks (or is it seven now?) but not one savings and loan association in our city limits.

Campbell has more places to service or repair an automobile than any other part of the county, but we don't have ONE new car dealer!

One enterprising fellow, Pat Sano, discovered we didn't have an import store in Campbell, so a couple months ago he sold his nursery business and opened one. The name is Import Plus and it's located in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center on Winchester Blvd. Pat reports business is good!

If you're looking for a place to open a business, just pick one of the above (or a few others we can name) and you'd have an absolute monopoly!

PETE'S PROVERBS

Pete Carlino, who runs the Round House in Kirkwood Plaza with his tall and handsome partner (my wife's description) has a justifiable beef with the "Press".

Pete writes little sayings (in our office we call them "kickers") which he likes to use at the bottom of his ad.

A couple weeks ago, we ran the wrong one. Last week, it didn't get in at all!

What Pete wrote was "Support Your Local Police".

In trying to track down why Pete's little saying didn't get in, we found out a lot of other things which may or may not have been apropos.

Such as driving a sports car with no windshield. Or having the engine removed from your car while you were attending a business meeting. Or driving without your turn signals working. Or having a pet duck killed by the neighbors' dog just because he flew over the fence.

We hasten to assure Pete that with all these things happening, the error of omission was not intentional.

So here it is...

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL POLICE

FLOWER POWER

Who says there isn't money in flowers?

An ounce of silver is worth $16; an ounce of gold $35. But some hybrid petunia seeds sell for $1,000 an ounce! Pardon me while I go out and give my petunias a can of beer.

Camden High Notes ♪ ♪

by Donna St. Cyr

Bear Valley skiing slopes were invaded by teachers and students from Camden's Ski Club. The group was there from Friday, Jan. 23 to Sunday, Jan. 25.

Miss Jamison, advisor of the club, informed us that the skiers stayed at a Bear Valley cabin owned by Leigh Counselor, Mr. Deis.

Tired but happy, the skiers arrived in San Jose after an exciting week-end in Bear Valley.

Cathy Clute, female senior of the month for January, is presently Page 3 editor for Cougars' Tales. She is also co-editor for Memini 1971, our yearbook in the making.

A member of CSF , Cathy is student manager on Student Council, and has participated in GAA.

When asked how she felt about school, in general, she replied "I'm fed up with it because I don't know whether or not I'll be able to use what I've learned here in my future life."

Cathy enjoys knitting, watching TV and eating.

Following graduation, Cathy plans to major in Home Economics at either U. C. Davis or West Valley College.

"At the moment, school is very boring," comments Ron Mercier, male senior of the month. "My junior year was far more exciting," he continued. Ron says he feels this way probably because most senior activities really haven't gotten started yet.

Ron is currently involved in his fourth season of basketball at Camden and has participated in baseball for three years.

Regarding his spare time, Ron says "I enjoy listening to music, watching TV, and just plain fooling around."

Future plans for Ron include majoring in either P.E. or Business Administration at West Valley College or possibly Seattle Pacific College.

"Cherished Moments" are the words seniors use to describe...Branhams' fourth annual Senior Ball to be held Feb. 12, 9-midnight.

The girls and their escorts will dance to the music of "Blackbird" for an enjoyable evening at the extravagant ballroom of the Palo Alto Hills country club.

At midnight the seniors say good-bye to the romantic setting of fountains and palm trees and are off to Saratoga Lanes for a more casual change of pace.

After-ball activities include bowling and pool, while musical entertainment will be provided for those less energetic.

"Besides these activities, a delicious breakfast will be served at the Brave Bull from about 2-3 a.m.," stated Sue Schmidt, after-ball committee chairman.

Come Sunday morning, Feb. 7, Branhams' Home and School Club will hold a pancake breakfast in the Bruin cafeteria from 8-1 p.m.

Proceeds will go towards scholarships for the class of '71.

'Molly' run starts Friday

"The Unsinkable Molly Brown", that delightful musical comedy, will be presented by the West Valley Light Opera Assn. starting Feb. 5 and every weekend thereafter until March 6 at the Saratoga Civic Theatre, 13777 Fruitvale Ave., Saratoga.

Coincidently, West Valley Light Opera first started its career in 1964 with the production of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" at the West Valley Jr. College in Campbell.

Paul Gurev will be the director for this production, Ed Hand and Eugene Francis are Co-producers. Barbara Valente is choreographer, Jacqueline Beard is the choral director while James Dyer will be the musical director.

The cast of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" includes Carol Davis and Molly, Ed Sherry as Johnny Brown, Ed Moats as Shamus, Marge Hand as Princess DeLong, Frank Gary as Prince DeLong and Bill Holm as Monsignor Ryan.

For further information regarding reservations or tickets please call 356-6410.

June wedding

A family party was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Carol Becht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Becht, Saratoga, and Paul B. Kemp, son of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Kemp of Union Ave.

The party was held over the holidays at Mr. and Mrs. Kemp's home with both families attending.

Carol is a graduate of Westmont High School. She is a senior at Chico State College and will graduate in nursing in January, 1972.

She is presently doing student nursing at the Travis Air Force Base Hospital in conjunction with her studies at Chico.

Paul graduated from Camden High School, San Jose State College, and received his law degree from University of Santa Clara. He is an attorney with the law firm of Kahle, Adams and Everton, of San Jose.

The couple plan to wed June 13 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

ADOLPH VOLK

PEN WOMEN

Helene C. Schellenberg, bay area writer and teacher, and Dr. Jack H. Holland, professor of management of San Jose State College, will be guest speakers at the annual celebrity luncheon of the Santa Clara County Branch of the National League of American Pen Women, on Saturday, Feb. 6.

College teacher wins prizes

A West Valley College food services instructor recently added another laurel to his growing list of accomplishments as chef and culinary expert.

Adolph "Steve" Volk, placed "best in category" at the Fifth Western National Restaurant Convention, Senior Culinary Olympics, held in San Francisco this fall.

Volk, instructor in baking and confectionary at West Valley, entered a chocolate wedding cake, which was built around a water fountain, and decorated with chocolate roses, pillars and trim.

Volk received a first place plaque for points earned in competition and a "Gold Augie" as best in category. (The "Augie" is dedicated to Auguste Escoffier, an expert in the field who raised the prestige of the culinary profession to its highest level.)

Volk is a member of the Santa Clara Valley Chapter of the American Culinary Federation.

Broadway show orchestra seeks young musicians

The San Jose Children's Musical Theater, sponsored by the Cabrini Community Theater, is forming a show orchestra to accompany their Broadway productions.

Any string, brass, woodwind, or percussion musicians are welcome to participate in this unusual and enjoyable training opportunity.

This orchestra, comprised of both the young and older musicians of our area, will not only accompany SJCMT and Cabrini Community Theater shows, but will also be available to other Young People's and Community Musical Theaters at a reasonable cost, as part of the training process.

The basic purpose is to acquaint high-caliber amateur musicians with the original scores of the finest and most popular of Broadway musicals and operettas, and provide a community service to the local musical theaters.

The first production to be undertaken is the Emperor's New Clothes, by the San Jose Children's Musical Theater in early May this year. Plans are under way to accompany the Cabrini Community Theater's production of the uncut, complete "George M" this summer.

Rehearsals are tentatively scheduled for Sundays, from 12:30-2 p.m. at the St. Frances Cabrini Hall on Camden Ave., between Union and Bascom Avenues, beginning Sunday, Feb. 14.

Co-conductors of the orchestra will be Stanford Musical Theater major John P. Healy, Jr., and Patricia Healy, a music major at the College of Notre Dame in Belmont. Each have a wealth of experience in musical theater, John as a leading man and director for several community theaters and light opera companies, and Patricia as concertmistress and musical director for over a dozen shows.

For further information, or to volunteer your musical abilities, come on Feb. 14 or call 371-0232 or 377-9825.

Horticulture speaker slated

A meeting of Campbell Garden Club, a member of the California Garden Clubs, Inc., is planned for Wednesday, Feb. 10 at the Congregational Church, 400 W. Campbell Ave.

Ben Bednarcyk is the featured speaker. His topic will be horticulture.

At a workshop at the home of Mrs. Lou Marotti on Monica Lane held recently, members made valentine favors for the Santa Clara Valley Medical Center.

Visitors are always welcome at the Garden Club's meetings. For information, contact Mrs. B. A. Brigham, president, 253-6176.

Dabble in art, classes starting

Dabble at your leisure — three art classes will be sheltered in the Campbell Women's Club for the next 15 weeks.

A part of Metropolitan Adult Education's Fine Arts Department, the classes include General Art, Drawing and Painting, and Color and Design (acrylics).

Students may register for a minimal fee at the Del Mar Adult Annex until classes are filled; all begin the week of Feb. 1.

General Art will be taught by Mrs. Clio Leaman, is set to explore the fundamentals of drawing and painting with various subjects and media. All levels of skill welcome. Class will be held Mondays, 9-12 a.m.

Estelle Trebbe will teach Drawing and Painting, a beginner's course in layout of well designed sketches. It stresses perspective, proportion, composition and techniques of pen and ink, colored and graphic pencils. The class is given Mondays, from 1-4 p.m.

Color and Design's instructor is Mrs. Bonnie Rodehorst. This course will discuss elements of line, space, shape, color and texture in lecture, followed by class projects in acrylics. It meets Thursdays, from 1-4 p.m.

Honor Orchestra plays Tuesday

The first concert of the year will be performed by Campbell Union (elementary) School District's Honor Orchestra next Tuesday, Feb. 9, at Campbell Elementary School, in the cafetorium.

Fifty-two youngsters from Campbell schools have been rehearsing for the concert after school each Tuesday afternoon since September.

Directing this first performance is Ed Tonini, with Wally Johnson assisting.

Scheduled for 7:30 p.m., the concert will include the following numbers: Rigaudon, Hungarian Dance, On the Trail, Finale from Beethoven's 5th Symphony, Concerto Grosso in G Major, Prelude from La Traviota, A Little Suite for Orchestra, and the Theme from Romeo and Juliet.

Sara Aurich will play a violin solo.

The public is invited.

LUCETTES

St. Lucy's senior citizen group, the Lucettes, will meet Monday, Feb. 8 from 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dessert and coffee will be served and games and shuffle board will be available.

SQUARE DANCE

Jokers' Square Dance Club currently is having square dancing Thursday evenings at Coventry School from 8 to 10 p.m. and will be starting a beginning class soon. For information call 379-8264.

Camp Fire Girls

Camp Fire Girls will be ready for candy sales on Friday afternoon, Feb. 5. at the Kirkwood Plaza. Saturday, Feb. 6, they will be near the Safeway Store in the Campbell Plaza. Other groups will be selling at the Wells Fargo Bank and Barclays Bank.

This year the girls will be selling Almond Roca and chocolate mints for $1.00 each. They not only will be working for the council and Camp Wastahi but also towards partial payment of their own day camp or resident camp fees.

Russian classes given at Del Mar

Russian, the most intricate of Western languages, will be offered on beginning and intermediate levels by Metropolitan Adult Education this spring.

For a $1.75 student fee, students may join the dual-level class held each Tuesday, 7-10 p.m., at Del Mar High School. Native speaker Ted Cimos will instruct both groups via the simplified method of language learning.

The Russian-born teacher claims intense oral participation can produce verbal breakthrough after the first 17 sessions. Beginners will concentrate initially on a basic 800 word vocabulary, building towards a working command of simplified speech. Writing skills will then be introduced as a supplement to the spoken word.

Registration will be continuing at the Del Mar Adult Annex until the class is filled. First session began Tuesday, Feb. 2.

CAMPBELL OES

Campbell Chapter 553, Order of Eastern Star, will have its first initiation ceremony on Feb. 12, at the Odd Fellows Hall, 176 E. Campbell Ave.,

Worthy Matron Virginia Ferrick and Patron John Ferrick will preside. Mrs. Ethel Kygar will be chairman for the evening.

PHARMACY PHACTS

How did a nice girl like you get caught with your supplies down?

It could happen to anybody.

But that doesn't make it any easier when the boss comes storming in asking for paper clips. Or legal pads. Or a fine point red pen. Or when somebody has to make a special trip for typewriter papers and supplies.

An office just won't work very well without the right supplies at the right time. Things slow down. Tempers flare. And you get into trouble.

You Can Avoid This Situation by Contacting

INTRODUCING THE COOK BOOK OMELETTES

Omelettes are our specialty. That means we do something different to make them deliciously unique. We'd like to introduce you to that difference, so we're offering you any one of our omelettes from The Specialty portion of the menu, plus coffee, for just $1.09 and the coupon from this ad. Regularly our special omelettes cost between $1.50 and $2.25, and a bottomless cup of coffee costs 20¢, so you could save a lot of money with this offer. But what you save won't make the difference after you enjoy one of our omelettes. The difference is in what you get. Take advantage of this introductory offer and you'll know what we mean when we say "omelettes are our specialty."

Omelettes from The Specialty:
Chopped Bacon & Tomato; American; Plain; Mushroom; Bacon & Mushroom; Mushroom & Cheese; Onion & Cheese; Bacon & Cheese; Shrimp; Ham & Tomato; Ham & Cheese; Ham & Turkey; Cheddar Cheese; Turkey & Cheese; Sausage; Sausage & Cheese; Pastrami; Onion & Tomato; Salami; Jelly; Sour Cream; Ham; and Toasted Almond. (All omelettes made with four large Ranch-fresh eggs, served with hash brown potatoes, toast and jelly.)

Bring this coupon and $1.09
to The Cook Book restaurant for your choice of 23 different omelettes, and coffee. Good Monday-Friday 7:30-10:30 am. Offer valid February 3-February 9.

THEN THERE GREW UP A GENERATION, by Thyra Bjorn, (Fiction)

Thyra Bjorn, the successful author of Papa's Wife, Papa's Daughter and Mama's Way, has written a contemporary novel about the generation gap and the problems of a minister in today's non-religious, sophisticated world. Mark Catling, a minister, is quickly disillusioned in a small community church. The problems which beset his big city brothers beset him. Even his children are losing their faith. Is he a true shepherd—a man who has listened to the voice of God and brought His word to his people?

CEDARHURST ALLEY by Denison Hatch, (Fiction)

Thirty million people live around airports in the United States. Some have learned to live with the noise and pollution for others it is a nightmare. Cedarhurst Alley is the madcap tale of a homeowner who is so irked by jet planes going overhead that he floats a World War II barrage balloon over his house right in the main landing pattern of Kennedy Airport. Does a homeowner own the air rights over his house? Could one get away with it and for how long? The answers are found in this wildly probable tale of protest, frustration and out and out war with the Establishment.

WHEN THE GIRAFFE RUNS DOWN, by Joseph Pillitteri, (Fiction)

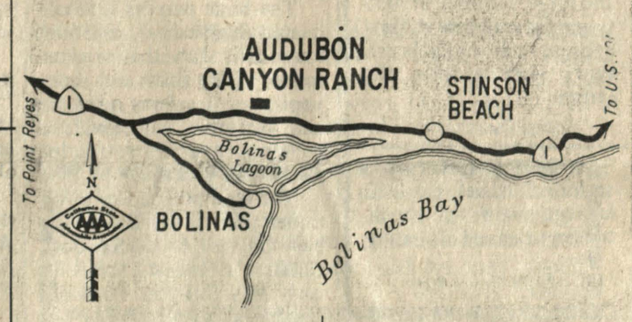
One harrowing day in the life of three people: Claude, a medical student; the Reverend Mr. Abraham, his father (Protestant despite the surname); and Dr. Robert Collier, a young intern suffering from an unhappy marriage and a bad head cold. Claude is bugged by a terminal case who wants to be put out of her misery and by life in general. His father is hung-up on the loss of faith, a guilty conscience and a dying friend. Dr. Collier is aware of fatigue, boredom and fear. The common denominator is fear, and all three principals who are isolated on the sixth floor of a hospital by a fire. The moral is life may be hell on wheels, but it is better than death.

Unique ranch in Marin County provides haven for blue heron

Audubon Canyon Ranch along Shoreline Highway One in Marine County, is a special kind of ranch. For it is here that the great blue heron and common egret return each Spring to build nests, court, mate and raise their young.

The time to visit this major heronry is from late February through July.

Great blue herons, our country's largest heron, start arriving first. This kingly bird stands over four feet tall and has a wingspread of over six feet. The males go through standoffs and disputes to choose suitable nesting sites and territorial rights. When the female herons arrive, courting ceremonies begin with ritual dancing, fluffing of nuptial plumage, and nest building.



Around the first of March eggs are in the nests and are incubated about 28 days. The young birds remain in the nest and are incubated about 28 days. The young birds remain in the nest for about nine weeks.

Egrets arrive at the heronry a few weeks after the great blue herons with the young egrets hatching in mid-April. They grow quickly and are ready to leave the nest in about six weeks.

At the entrance to the ranch is a white frame house built by a Massachusetts sea captain in 1875 that looks out over Bolinas Lagoon, the tidal mud flats which are the feeding grounds of the heronry. The lagoon has become a major link in the Pacific flyway and many wintering waterfowl and migrant shorebirds call here.

Audubon Ranch covers more than 800 acres of rolling grasslands, chapparal, woodlands and three canyons forested by redwood and Douglas fir. About 55 species of water birds are likely to be seen at the Ranch during the year, and 90 species of land birds. Some 60 species are permanent residents.

The herons and egrets have been nesting in the canyon for about 80 years. Lately, there have been about 140 nesting pairs, a third of them herons, the rest egrets.

The most popular spot to watch the birds is from Henderson Overlook, where you have a nice view down into the nests. High-powered telescopes are mounted on the railing for close-up looks.

After viewing the birds, you might want to take a short, self-guided nature walk in the Garden Club of America Canyon; the three-mile hike along the Martin Griffin Trail around the canyon loop which passes through redwood groves, chapparal and meadows, or one of several other trails.

Well worth a visit before starting out is the display hall with exhibits and pictures explaining the natural and human history of the area and the habits of the big birds.

The Audubon Canyon Ranch is open to the general public on weekends and holidays 10 to 4, through July 5. There is no admission charge, but donations are needed to keep the ranch operating.

TRUSTEE — Noel J. Brown (left), retired Campbell manufacturer, was on the founding board of the Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara Valley and remained active on it until two years ago. He again took a seat on the policy-making body of the non-profit hospital at the annual meeting last week, and here he goes over his new duties with Henry T. Yamate, president of San Jose Savings and Loan Association who is treasurer of the hospital.

Brown serves hospital

Noel J. Brown, retired Campbell manufacturer who helped found The Good Samaritan Hospital of Santa Clara Valley and served on the board of trustees until 1969, was seated as a trustee again at the annual meeting last week. He joins another local man, Joseph M. Dahl, as a board member.

Other new trustees who were seated with Mr. Brown at the annual meeting were R.N. Rives, general plant manager for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph: J.J. William Brown, general manager of the General Electric Atomic Power Equipment Department; Ellis Langley, division manager for Pacific Gas and Electric.

Selected as officers for the coming year were Roy E. Demmon, president of Demmon-Hunter, chairman; H. Robert Hursted, controller of Vanderson Construction Company, vice-chairman; James R. Cook Jr., assistant general manager of IBM Systems Manufacturing Division, secretary; and Henry T. Yamate, president of San Jose Savings and Loan Assn., treasurer.

Re-elected president and chief executive officer was Floyd A. Sorenson.

The Good Samaritan Hospital, which opened in 1965, is in the process of completing architectural plans for a multi-million dollar phase II expansion which will bring the bed capacity to approximately 400 and will make room for major expansion of ancillary facilities (X-Ray, emergency, medical laboratory, etc.)

Homeowner group seeks members

A group of concerned citizens, residing in the general vicinity of Hazelwood School, has formed the Greater Hazelwood Homeowner's Neighborhood Improvement Association.

The newly organized association has drawn up a constitution and by-laws, conducted a drug abuse symposium, and is working to sponsor additional community interest events.

One of the projects which the group will consider is involvement in the Campbell park program.

Membership in the group is open to all homeowners, renters or business proprietors in Campbell in the area bounded by Hacienda on the south, by Winchester on the east; San Tomas Aquino on the west and Budd Ave.--San Tomas Creek on the north.

Newly nominated officers of the group are Bill Johnson, president; Rod Garred, first vice-president; Leroy Turcotte, second vice-president; Sherry Warner, secretary; and Mike Rynhard, treasurer.

Additional nominations were to be called for from the floor at the monthly meeting last night and elections are slated for March.

Membership meetings are held the first Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. at Hazelwood School.

Co-chairmen for the membership committee are Ray Hoyt, 378-2844 and Dave Bryant, 378-7390.

LOOKOUT STATIONS

The small mounds at the entrance to Prairie dog burrows are used as lookout stations and as sanctuaries when their burrows are flooded during rainy season.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS

by Louis Zurlo

The El Sereno 4-H Club held its monthly meeting on Jan. 27, at the Immanual Lutheran Church in Saratoga. Our guest speaker was David Duer.

During the meeting we had reports on our skating party committee, potluck committee and speech contest committee.

Committees were formed for money raising, project four and by-laws.

Baking contest winners were, for the girls, first, Allison Blesch; second, Marjorie Hill; third, Dorothy Keefer.

For the boys, first, Louis Zurlo.

Our guest speaker was David Duer of the El Toro 4-H Club. He talked on the 4-H "Community Pride Project" on the 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Girl Scouts

NEIGHBORHOOD 17

Troop 1018 recently welcomed two new members, Alex Hosford and Kathy Epler. The troop had many exciting things happen, such as a field trip to the Art Festival, Jan. 23 at Kelley Park.

Several girls entered projects. The troop also had a guest speaker, Victoria Shepperd, recently, who told about Appalachian music, games and folk art.

They were hosts to Troop 861 at this meeting. The girls have also adopted a Troop in Utica, Michigan as their pen-pals.

At present, several mothers are helping girls earn their sewing and cook badge.

Mmes. Pinkham, Noble, and DeGuc are conducting sewing in their homes. Mrs. Ingram and Mrs. Dance are conducting cooking.

The Campbell Fire Department recently presented a program on resuscitation for the girls and are returning in February to demonstrate First Aid. Mrs. Carol Casteel, leader, and co-leader Mrs. Peggy Russell, are also helping the girls plan for the troop's first Court of Awards in February.

Cookie sale also starts in February with new double-size boxes in five varieties.

"Heart attack" booklet offered

"How to Reduce the Risk of a Heart Attack" is a booklet now available to the public through the Santa Clara County Heart Association.

The booklet discusses six ways to safeguard your heart's health and is available free by writing to the Heart Association, 1984 The Alameda, or by phoning 248-1517.

In the past 20 years, the Heart Association has expended nearly $170,000,000 in research that has not only led to such programs as transplants, but has developed such preventive information as described in this booklet.

Retired invited to join AARP

The American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), Saratoga Chapter 690, has elected officers and board members for the coming year and is inviting guests to attend their next meeting Friday, Feb. 26 at 10:30 a.m. in Saratoga Federated Church, 20390 Park Place, Saratoga.

Officers are Harold Turner, president; Mrs. Charles M. White, first vice-president; Mrs. Marguerite Franceschini, second vice-president; Mrs. Orlena McEldowney, treasurer; Mrs. Carolyn Hayes, secretary; and Mrs. Marion Dean, historian. Board members are Albert Taylor and Mrs. Lee Aversente.

Bringing up fido

Guess I wasn't very explicit last week about some myths concerning dogs.

Sorry.

It's my opinion that no male dog ever "needs" a girl friend. And generally is happier if he's never exposed to female wiles.

Training a pet is lots of fun. Dog owners love to show off - "shake hands," "speak," "roll over," and rightly so. It took time and patience and some canine intelligence to teach Fido.

There are three easy kinds of praise or reward which can be used in dog training. Many people unconsciously use them; verbal praise, physical praise (petting) and food.

For some reason, even a dog who isn't a chow hound will respond to food.

The key in giving praise is timing. Beginning obedience trainers are apt to praise the dog when he didn't sit and scold him when he does sit.

One of the hardest things to teach an obedience class is how to "correct" a dog, not how to teach him.

Handlers either are too slow to correct, or give up too easily. Half of a training class fusses at a dog when he's responding and the other half lets him get away with misbehavior.

Dogs are intelligent but their owners frequently get upset because they are embarrassed at their dogs' behavior or because they've neglected the practice essential to a well trained pet.

Shaking hands and speaking and rolling over are fun tricks to teach. They do require a certain amount of consistency, so figure out in your own mind exactly what you want.

Limit the gestures and words you will use. For instance, pick up Fido's paw, say "shake", drop the paw, and give him a treat, or a pat, or just verbal praise. Repeat, repeat, repeat! Caution: don't let Fido get bored on the first lesson.

In subsequent lessons, don't immediately pick up the paw, but say "shake" and see if he starts it on his own. If he does, fall all over him with love.

As a matter of fact, it doesn't hurt to fall all over him with love even when you're not teaching tricks.

After her husband's death, Mrs. Nathaniel Hawthorne modified or eliminated words in her husband's unpublished works to fit her conception of elegance or propriety.

SUMMER HOME

Ulysses S. Grant was the first President to have a summer White House, his favorite area was the New Jersey seashore.

SPORTS

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

With the Fall-Winter games drawing to a close, (the last match will be next Wednesday, Feb. 10), teams and pubs are starting to make plans for the Spring League. Entries must be in the hands of Competition Secretary Bob Hughes by Feb. 13.

As Hughes states in the NCDA newsletter "Off The Wire", don't call him on the 14th and expect to get squeezed in. He is also insisting that everything be in black and white on the entry form.

At the Captain's Meeting at the start of the winter season, the members of three of the leagues, the Transbay, Golden Gate and the City, complained about the schedule so Bob Hughes revised the schedule for them. Some of the matches that had to be replayed, still have not been contested.

It is also interesting to note that the three leagues that caused all this trouble for our hard working Competition Secretary also had the poorest turnout for the preliminaries of the Mixed Doubles.

MIXED DOUBLES FINALS

There are three all-women teams in San Francisco, yet one of the leagues was only able to turn out five teams for the Mixed Doubles Prelims. Compare this to the South Bay's 25 teams with only five female members and the Bridge League's 21 teams.

The Bridge League is our neighbor to the immediate north. It is comprised of the Courtyard and Say When in Hayward with two teams each, Harold's Club in Redwood City and three teams from the Swinging Door in San Mateo.

The finals matches for the Mixed Doubles Championship will be played next Sunday (Feb. 7) at 2 p.m. on the stage of the Gaslighter Theater, 400 E. Campbell Ave.

GASLIGHTER I LEADS

The Gaslighter Theater I lengthened its lead in the South Bay League to nine games when they defeated Banbury Clock II, 8-4. Bill Sprecher of the Gaslighters showed the rest of the team the way to go when he shot a perfect 180 (three triple 20's).

Bill is the third man to shoot a 180 in the NCDA Winter games. Gary Curtaz of the Bull and Bush III in San Francisco has shot two and Dave Ingols of the Lancashire Lad I got his against the Gaslighter II last month.

The second place Lancashire Lad I played to a 6-6 split with the Scuttlebutt in Mountain View. Tons (100's) were shot by Dave Ingols and Jack Mehtala.

Banbury Clock I maintained their third place by winning eight of their twelve games with the Lancashire Lad II. Des Maples of Clock I had a 108 away and teammate Larry Musial shot a 140. Tom Miller of Lad II shot a 118.

KNIGHTS TRIUMPH

The Black Knight emerged the victors in a see-saw battle with Gaslighter II. The Knights took the first team match which saw Faye Cupp of the Gaslighter shoot a 102 and Pete Webster of the Knight shoot two tons. Tom Carroll of the Gaslighters took the first singles match with a 56 out and his first ton of the evening.

Pete Webster took the second match for the Knights with Jo Aydelotte and George Hoffman of the Gaslighters taking the next two putting the Gaslighter ahead. Willy Buhl then evened things up for a 3-3 split at the half-way mark.

The Gaslighters took the second team game with Tom Carroll shooting a 126 and his second ton of the evening. Carroll then shot a third ton in the match he lost to the Knight's Conrad Mesmer. Jo Aydelotte was the only Gaslighter to win a game in the second half. The Black Knight won seven games to five.

Schwinn ... for the young in heart!
When you buy a new bike at an "ordinary," non-bicycle store you often have to take the carton home and assemble the bike yourself. Frequently, an additional charge is made for the assembly service. When you buy a bike from us there is nothing ordinary about it. First, it is a Schwinn — one of the world's finest bicycles. Second, we are a factory franchised Schwinn dealer — so you can rely on our service and quality. Third — every bike we sell is assembled, adjusted, and ready-to-ride.

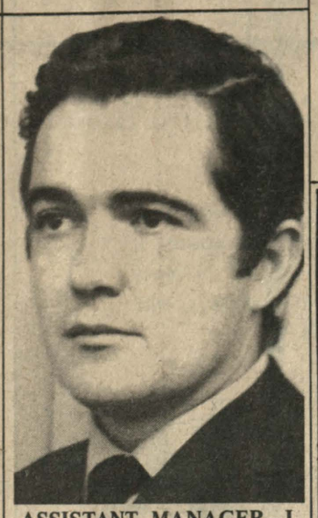
PRECARIOUS PERCH---An employee of Davey Tree Surgery had a long club to debranch this tall pine tree on Dillon Ave. before felling it. The ancient pine's sway in windy weather caused neighboring residents concern and so the decision was made to take the tree down before any damage was done.



ASSISTANT MANAGER---J. David C. Burke, 30, educated in the West Indies and England, has been named assistant manager of Barclays Bank in Campbell, according to Bob Blonder, manager of the local branch. Burke first joined Barclays in London in 1961 as an overseas trainee and has served in British Honduras, Central America and West Indies. He joined Barclays of California in 1969. He is married and has two sons.

Blonder also announced that Steven M. Hand has been named operations officer at the local Barclays branch. Hand, 32, grew up in the San Joaquin Valley and prior banking service was with Crocker Citizens. He joined Barclays last December.
